CAUSE

Jaster has been on supervision in the District of Nevada since August of 2013. Jaster has incurred two violations for using marijuana since his release. First occurrence was in April 2016 and the most recently in March 2023. Jurisdiction of this case was transferred from the Eastern District of Missouri on April 6, 2023, after his second incidence of using marijuana. Jaster has been attending sex offender treatment and has been completing polygraph examinations every six months. Jaster has passed all his previous polygraph examinations. However, on March 7, 2023, Jaster underwent a polygraph examination wherein the data was erratic and inconsistent. The numerical scores in the examination did not reach the threshold for either truthfulness or deception and the exam was determined to be inconclusive.

Jaster completed a second polygraph exam on April 11, 2023. The polygrapher reported that Jaster showed deception when asked if he was viewing pornography and if he had a digital device that he previously had not reported to the probation officer.

Pursuant to the deceptive polygraph, the probation office conducted a search at Jaster's residence on May 3, 2023. Jaster was home with his mother when officers arrived for the search. Prior to entering the residence, Jaster was told that a search was being conducted. Jaster was asked if he was in possession of any pornography and if he had any unauthorized digital devices. Jaster admitted that he owned a HP laptop computer that the officer was unaware of. Jaster further admitted that he had been in possession of the HP laptop for several years, and he regularly views pornography on the device. Jaster further admitted to using his sister's Wi-Fi without her knowledge, to view pornography on the internet and download sexually explicit literature to the device. Jaster adamantly denied that any of the content on his computer was "illegal". Jaster stated that he only downloaded stories and viewed pornography from mainstream pornographic sites that do not contain illegal files.

Officers discovered the HP laptop computer in Jaster's bedroom on the floor, hidden behind a pillow. The laptop computer was found to contain hundreds of downloads of sexually explicit stories. The officer found the stories to focus on the sexualization of children. The officer also found thousands of internet links in the browser history. The links contained several titles consistent with the sexual activity of minors such as "mommy / daughter" "naughty stepdaughter" "Lucy corrupts her daughter" "stepdaughter and mother bondage" and "Hentai pornography."

The officer also discovered several internet links and downloads consistent with abduction, torture, sexual slavery, BDSM, mind control, and submission. Jaster stated that he has been abused by women throughout his life thus he feels comfort in the viewing of such materials. The probation officer has sent the HP laptop to a forensic laboratory to determine if any child pornography is on the device. While the forensic review is pending the probation officer finds it prudent to sanction Jaster with 90 days of residential reentry center placement. Jaster has violated his sex offender treatment, computer monitoring, and pornography prohibition conditions. If no evidence of illegal material is found on the device, the officer will not seek further court action. Jaster will be participating in a more robust schedule of sex offender treatment. Jaster has agreed to the modification as evidenced by his signature on the attached Waiver (PROB 49).
